Digital Experience: Augmented Reality Decorá Mobile Application

- A premier way for Decora's sales process for premium brands to be differentiated
- Augmented Reality: a technology that superimposes a computer-generated image on a user's view of the real world, thus providing a composite view
- The AR mobile app will allow consumers and designers to view Decora products in their own kitchen

AR Mobile App Layout and Content

Some key notes about design

- Tabs will be sorted based on a hierarchy of information (most important to least important information)
- Text for the most part should be laid out in an 'F' shape - people read in the shape of an 'F'
- By designing the app strategically in this way, it makes it easier for users to determine the most important information and get to where they want to go, fast.
